

Surf Kayak Brittany, 7th to 11th Sept 2026

John-Paul Eatock and Glen Scott, lead the Surf Kayak Coaching team. We've been running Surf Kayak trips to Brittany since 2018, with each year building on the last to find the best surf as well as the tastiest Patisserie's!

Les Pins is a brilliant venue allowing us to camp or stay in Chalets for a very reasonable price just a short drive away from many fantastic beaches on the Crozon Peninsula, some years they even let us run a rolling session in their pool!

What level paddler do I need to be?

We are happy to work with novice through to advanced. We tend to put you into groups of similar abilities, and work with you on an individual basis. This is done by performance coaching; setting goals with you; analysing detailed observation of your performance; helping you to gain your biggest wins in surf kayak skills; giving you specific feedback; filming and sharing your performance to make it really clear on what you are working on and improving.

All through friendly, interactive and fun coaching sessions designed to increase your technical ability, and confidence.

Where?

The plan is to be flexible, given the weather, with a focus around The Crozon Peninsula, the middle peninsula of Brittany. It is central, and as such has many options and angles of beaches for both catching good surf and finding suitable conditions.

We will base ourselves at a campsite that is typically Breton, near to the Crozon town itself.

Check out the website:

<https://www.camping-crozon-lespins.com/>

Say that you are with the UK Surf Kayak group. In addition to camping there is the option of static caravans/chalets for those that want to not chance sleeping under canvas/in a vehicle.

When?

Exact departures are up to you, many choose to extend their holiday, but for the coaches coming from the South West we will be traveling:

Departure from Plymouth on the 6th September at 22:00 arriving at Roscoff at 8:00 7th September

The dates have been chosen to take best advantage of the tides and the warm, clear September water. Add some autumn sunshine and it will be perfect.

Within those ferry times is then some additional travel time for the coaches to make it to the camp site where we will then unpack our things into the Challet and meet you all to talk through everyone's aims for the week as well as split ourselves into smaller coaching groups. This means the first coaching session will be on the Monday afternoon and followed by 3 further full coaching days. On the Friday we usually have an early morning free surf together before having to leave the beach around 11am.

What's included?

Full coaching on the water. Due to the nature of surf, we can't guarantee it, but we haven't been disappointed yet. We tend to work at your pace, keeping in mind that we have the whole week and don't want to burn out too soon!

What is the cost?

The cost for the trip coaching is £462pp including booking admin fees.

What will I need to bring?

We can hire out the equipment to you, however it is best if you bring your own water gear as you know how it works best. If you need surf kayak gear, please contact

Courses@surfkayakcoaching.com

You will also need to bring your own camping gear and we would recommend to bring some food, aiming to top up whilst you are in France (we find the wine and bread particularly agreeable). As a surf kayaker, please bring a memory stick to keep all of the video footage that will be taken to help with your personal development and coaching.

How do I pay?

Please Courses@surfkayakcoaching.com for exclusive booking link

What is not included that I will need to budget for?

Your ferry fee, sustenance, camping and adequate insurance. For the overnight ferry you will need to book a reclining seat or more. For the day time ferry you will not have to book a seat etc unless you choose to. There is the possibility of sharing lifts and accommodation with other clients – which we put to the whole group, which makes it even more financially viable.

We're very excited and know this trip is going to fill up quickly for sure. Don't delay - book now!